I INTRODUCTION

History and purpose of establishing the Centre of Public Employment Services of Southeast European Countries

Dear readers and users,

The Centre of Public Employment Services of Southeast European Countries was established on 31 May 2007 by ratification of the Guidelines for Operation at the Second Conference of Public Employment Services for Southeast European Countries, which took place in Belgrade, Republic of Serbia.

With respect to similarities of economic structures, labour market trends and demands in promotion of employment and prevention of unemployment, within the initiative for establishing the regional Centre, in the context of continuation of cooperation in the sphere of employment and labour market, with reference to the Bucharest Declaration and the Conclusion of the Sofia Ministerial Conference, The Centre was established by public employment services of Bosnia & Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Croatia, Macedonia, Montenegro, Romania, Serbia, Slovenia and Turkey.

The establishing countries agree to consider, together and in cooperation with the relevant national and international institutions (WAPES, ILO, Council of Europe, Stability Pact for South Eastern Europe – Regional Co-operation Council for Southeast Europe), the issues of labour market functioning on the national and regional levels, to identify common problems and improve institutional capacities in the sphere of labour market and employment through exchange of positive experiences in implementation of adequate solutions.

Exchange of experiences and best practice of the member organisations in particular fields will be conducted through the Statistical Bulletin of the Centre, and you are holding the first issue of the Bulletin before you.

The Statistical Bulletin of the Centre of Public Employment Services of Southeast European Countries is a publication that contains the overview of the labour markets in the countries whose public employment services are members of the Centre. It will be available in the website of the Centre (www.cpessec.org) in electronic format as a bilingual publication (English language and the language of the country presiding over the Centre at the time of publication). The responsibility for preparation of the Statistical Bulletin is upon the presiding member of the Centre – the first issue is the result of the work of experts of the National Employment Service of the Republic of Serbia; and the responsibility for provision of national data was upon the experts of national public employment services – members of the Centre.

The Centre of Public Employment Services of Southeast European Countries will distribute information in accordance with the national laws on accessibility of information of public interest and the code of ethics in the field of operation of employment services.

Sincerely,

*Republic of Serbia
National Employment Service*

General geographic, demographic and macroeconomic information

BOSNIA & HERZEGOVINA

Bosnia & Herzegovina is a country in Southeast Europe, in the west of the Balkans Peninsula. It belongs to the group of Mediterranean countries because it has the exit to the Adriatic Sea near Neum. B&H consists of: Republic of Srpska, Federation of Bosnia & Herzegovina and the Brčko District B&H. The total area of the country is 51,209.2 km² (of which 51,197 km² is land, and 12.2 km² is the sea). According to the last population census in 1991, 4,377,033 persons lived in the territory of B&H, of which 1,902,956 Muslims (43.47%), 1,366,104 Serbs (31.21%), 760,852 Croats (17.38%), 242,682 Yugoslavs (5.54%), 104,439 other minorities (2.38%).

The capital city is Sarajevo. Bosnia & Herzegovina declared its independence from Yugoslavia on 1 March 1992.

Republic of Srpska was established on 9 January 1992. Its area is 25,053 km² or 49% of the territory of Bosnia & Herzegovina, and 1,479,634 persons are living in it (2005). Administratively, the Republic of Srpska consists of 63 municipalities.

The Federation of B&H was created by the Washington Treaty, signed on 18 March 1994. It consists of ten cantons. The area of this entity is 26,110 km² and according to the estimates made in 2002, there are 2,318,972 persons living in it. The capital city is Sarajevo, whereas the city of Mostar is the seat of four federal ministries.

Brčko District B&H is a district in Bosnia & Herzegovina, which is formally governed by both entities as a condominium, however de facto it enjoys a high level of autonomy and has its own administration bodies. The administrative seat of the district is the city of Brčko. Brčko District B&H was formally established on 8 March 2000. There are 68,863 persons in total in this district, namely: Bosniaks 32,332 (46.95%), Serbs 28,612 (41.55%) and Croats 7,919 (11.50%).

The economy of the country after the civil war and the socialist planned economy has been recovering slowly. Privatisation of enterprises has started, but its slow pace is influenced by the non-conformity of the legislative framework between the entities. The banking system has been reformed and large western banks have entered the market. Foreign trade debt and high unemployment rate are main economic problems of the economy B&H. Reforms and recovery are very slow, but the progress is noticeable.

Predominant industrial fields are: production of steel, coal, iron, automobile industry, textile industry, production of tobacco, furniture and oil processing.

Croatia has existed as an independent country since Yugoslavia broke into pieces, i.e. on 22 December 1990 Croatia was created as an indivisible democratic and social country, and it declared its independence on 25 June 1991. Croatia became a member of the United Nations on 22 May 1992. It became a member of the World Trade Organisation and CEFTA, and it has been a candidate for membership in the European Union since. At the summit of NATO on 3 April 2008 it was invited to become a full member of this organisation. Croatia was invited to accede to NATO in the first half of 2009.

Major economic fields of Croatia are agriculture, food production, textile industry, wood processing industry, metal processing industry, chemical industry, oil industry, electricity industry, civil engineering, trade, ship building, maritime affairs and tourism. Industry accounts for about one fifth of the Croatian GDP, and about one quarter of the labour force. 83% of the industry is processing industry, mostly of foodstuffs and beverages, production of chemical products and publishing.

Tourism is the most important source of profit. With more than 8.5 million tourists in 2005, about 10 million in 2006, Croatia is rated No 18 most popular tourist destination in the world. According to the official data, direct profits from tourism only in 2006 were 6.3 billion EUR.

Since the mid 2006, Slovenia has been divided into 210 municipalities, among which 11 have the status of city municipalities. Beside the municipalities as the units of local self-government, Slovenia is also divided into 58 administrative units that perform the public administration affairs and do not interfere into the self-government affairs of the municipalities. Although it has not been regulated by law, Slovenia is also divided into provinces (in geographical sense) i.e. regions. Thus, the country is divided into 12 regions for the purposes of national statistics.

Slovenia has a very developed economy which is reflected in the very high GDP per capita (second highest after Cyprus in competition with the ten new EU states) which in Purchase Power Parities (PPP) equals to 89 of the EU-27 average in 2007. The development of the Slovenian economy is reflected in the increasingly high actual growth of production and decrease of the inflation rate.

Traditional economic fields in Slovenia are industry and construction, agriculture, forestry and fishing are in decline, while services are growing. The agricultural sector account for roughly 6% of the population. Production of healthy (organic) food is particularly developed in the Alps region. The major industrial fields are: manufacturing of chemicals and chemical products, manufacturing of fabricated metal, not machines, manufacturing of machinery and equipment, manufacturing of food, beverages and tobacco, manufacturing of electric machinery, manufacturing of rubber and plastic products and manufacturing of motor vehicles, trailers etc. In service sector the most important fields of activity are real estate, renting and business activities, wholesale and retail trade and transport, storage and communication.

Economy of the Republic of Serbia has shown constant growth during the last years, which is reflected in the growth of GDP. Economic growth in Serbia is higher than that of all the neighbouring countries. The recovery of the Serbian economy is still the biggest problem the country is facing. Furthermore, another big problem is high unemployment, and high foreign trade debt. Regardless of the fast development of Serbia and the big economic potential, Serbian GDP is still below the level of 1990.

In the total GDP, the share of agriculture is 12.3% and 30% of the population works in this economic field, industry share is 24.2% (46% of the population), and services account for 63.5% (with 24% of the population).

Main economic fields are: pharmaceutical industry, production of agriculture machines, electronic and communication equipment, paper, production and processing of lead, food and production of car parts.

Turkish economy is a mixture of traditional craftsmanship and modern industry dominated by textile industry. Agriculture is one of the most important economic fields, which is reflected in the fact that Turkey is rated No 7 in the world as regards the export of agricultural goods. The ownership structure of the Turkish economy is shifting towards the private sector, although state ownership is still predominant in industry, banking, transport and communication.

The largest one is the industry of textile and weaving (16.3% of the total industrial capacity) followed by processing of oil and oil derivatives, food production, chemical industry, production and processing of steel and iron, production of cars and machinery.

III SURVEY DATA SOURCES

Labour Force Survey

Labour Force Survey is a research with the most comprehensive insight into the characteristics of the labour force and labour market trends.

Implementation of this research involves application of methodological solutions that comply with the recommendations and definitions of the International Labour Organisation – ILO and requirements of EUROSTAT (European Statistical Office), which provides the most important source for international comparison of statistical data.

In the Labour Force Survey, the population aged 15 and older is monitored according to the activity in the considered week, rather than the formal status of the interviewed persons.

Active population (labour force) are all employed and unemployed persons aged 15 and older.

The term employed (according to the ILO definition) comprise all persons above a specified age who during the reference period were either (i) at work or (ii) with a job or enterprise but not at work (i.e. persons temporarily absent from work). Persons at work are defined as persons who during the reference period performed work for a wage or salary, Or for profit or family gain, in cash or in kind, for at least on hour.

The term unemployed (according to the ILO definition) implies the persons who have not worked in any paid job in the considered week, nor were employed in a job from which they were absent and to which they could return after the expiry of absence period, subject to the following criteria:

- they have taken active steps in the last four weeks to find jobs and if they are offered one, they are available to start working within two weeks;
- they have not been actively seeking job during the last four weeks because they found one where they are suppose to start working after the considered week.

Inactive population are all persons aged 15 and older who are not active population.

V ACTIVE LABOUR MARKET MEASURES

Active labour market policy is an important element within the European Employment Strategy and the national employment strategies.

European Employment Strategy is a regional strategy that obliges the member states to pursue the overall approach to the employment policy with a view to stimulating full employment, improving quality of work and productivity and strengthening the social cohesion and inclusion.

Active measures are public interventions in the labour market with the aim to achieve its efficient functioning and resolve the inequalities, and they differ from other general labour market measures for their selective focus to the favour of particular labour market groups.

* Statistična regija: Od sedamdesetih godina prošlog veka istraživačke ustanove a povremeno i Zavod za statistiku RS u svrhe analize kombinovani su tadašnje opštinske podatke na nivo 12 "funkcionalnih regija". 1995. godine Zavod za statistiku je preuzeo ovakvu regionalnu podelu i dao imena statističkim regijama. Statistička regija takođe predstavlja i nivo NUTS 3 (Opšta nomenklatura teritorijalnih jedinica za statistiku).

* Statistical Region: Since the 1970s research institutions and occasionally also the SORS have combined for analytical purposes the then municipal data to the level of 12 "functional regions". In the 1995 the Statistical Office took over this regional breakdown and named the statistical regions. Statistical Region also presents level NUTS 3 (Common Classification of the Territorial Units for statistic).
